Sharing the best in tennis

En-Tout-Cas is very pleased to be renewing an association with Scotts of Thrapston Limited, the premier British manufacturer and supplier of garden timber structures and pavilions. Both family run companies have a rich heritage, offering high quality products, and have been collectively involved in business for a total of 200 years. This partnership produces the ideal garden location for family sport.

Scotts offers garden tennis pavilions whose design, durability and form match the En-Tout-Cas range of tennis courts. Working in partnership, Scotts and En-Tout-Cas have developed a range of distinctive tennis pavilion designs, whether for a home or club requirement. The synergy between our businesses ensures that you can specify the tennis court, fencing and pavilion structure you require, all from one supplier. En-Tout-Cas brings good value to your project by carrying out the foundation works for your pavilion at the same time as the civil engineering works on your tennis court. You have peace of mind that one company can meet your needs, within budget and to your timescales.

There are four distinct tennis pavilions within the En-Tout-Cas range, to suit most requirements, as detailed within this brochure. However, if you have a specific building design in mind or require a unique layout, then the Scotts team can design a bespoke pavilion or building just for you.

The Syston Arbour

The perfect place to sit and watch the match or simply to enjoy a gin and tonic in the evening sun.

- Height to top of roof - 3.09m
- Height to eaves - 1.43m
- Width - 3.636m
- Depth - 1.296m

The Syston Arbour offers an attractive sheltered seating area, alongside your tennis court, to enjoy the match or to coach your players from. Or, just a lovely relaxing seat after your match for that well earned cup of tea or G & T.

This arbour is manufactured from pressure impregnated European redwood, with a decorative blue stain, and has a charming cedar shingle roof with timber finial, as standard. The box seating offers a convenient, self contained storage space for all of your tennis paraphernalia.

The Hillyard

The best of both worlds with an area to view your grounds and to store your tennis equipment.

- Height to top of roof - 3.45m
- Height to eaves - 2.35m
- Width - 4.836m
- Depth - 3.036m

The Hillyard has a sizeable storage area enabling the equipment to be securely and neatly tidied away at the end of play. And, with the integral covered seating area, this building provides a very practical solution for your court surrounds with the perfect spectating shelter, if needed, from sun or wind.

The Hillyard has painted, laminated glazed windows, with a decorative gothic finish, and traditional oak posts. Manufactured in pressure impregnated European redwood, with a dark green stain, the building has a cedar shingle roof. Copper guttering and downpipes can also be added to the building, if desired.

The Championship Lodge

A champion among pavilions, for looks and space, and ideal for a celebratory Pimms with friends.

- Height to top of roof - 3.50m
- Height to eaves - 2.00m
- Width - 3.638m
- Width of building including roof overhang - 4.238m
- Depth - 2.420m
- Depth of building including roof overhang - 3.020m

A spacious and distinctive pavilion that will sit comfortably next to your En-Tout-Cas tennis court. The Championship Lodge is the perfect space for keeping spare equipment, for getting changed ready to play or simply to entertain friends before, during or after your match.

Manufactured in Larch, complete with striking cedar shingle roof, the Championship Lodge is internally lined with tongue and groove style boarding. The underside of the roof is lined in a plain boarding, and is painted in an off white finish, as is the internal lining. The doors and windows are pressure impregnated and can be painted, as required. Copper guttering and downpipes can also be added to the building, if desired.

The Marland Pavilion

A quintessentially British pavilion design that will fit in extremely well in any courtside setting.

- Height to top of roof - 3.64m
- Height to eaves - 2.35m
- Width - 4.236m
- Depth - 4.836m

The Marland Pavilion will most certainly add a charming visual addition to the landscape and your grounds. A delightful building that offers the perfect retreat after a long day, as well as a practical courtside structure to assist with storage, shelter or entertaining.

The painted cottage style doors and windows add the perfect finishing touch to this traditional style pavilion. The Hillyard is manufactured in pressure impregnated European redwood with a light green stain finish. The cedar shingle roof is lined in plain boarding, with the walls lined in tongue and groove style boarding, both painted in off white to match. Copper guttering and downpipes can also be added to the building, if desired.
